PETALING JAYA: Malaysia and Singapore are planning to roll out a QR code system for passport-free travel at their land checkpoints.

A joint statement by the Economy Ministry and Singapore's Trade and Industry Ministry said the move is among the initiatives aimed at supporting the development of the Johor-Singapore Special Economic Zone.

"The adoption and implementation of a passport-free QR code clearance system on both sides will facilitate more expeditious clearance of people at land checkpoints."

Johor Menteri Besar Onn Hafiz Ghazi had proposed last month that the federal government implement a QR code system similar to Singapore's at the customs, immigration and quarantine complex at the Sultan Iskandar building in Johor Bahru.
